

The Torrance YMCA announced today that it had found it necessary to obtain an "extra" camping period at Camp Round Meadow, located in the San Bernardino mountains, due to the tremendous number of sign-ups by boys in the 9-14 age level.

Joe Wilcox, executive secretary, explained that this "extra" period would be June 26 through July 3, and that it would be exactly the same as the later period of August 28 through September 4, which has a capacity number of reservations.

He further stated that the June 26 to July 3 period will be limited to 70 boys and urged all interested boys to hurry and get their reservations in.

Also on the camping schedule is the High Sierra Caravan trip, July 24-31, for boys 12-16. This trip is planned for older boys who enjoy fishing, hiking, and exploring, in places like Convict Lake, Lake Mary, Yosemite National Park, Devil's Post Pile and Rainbow Lake.

Wamptusi Day Camp will be held August 6-17. Boys 8-12 can enjoy all the activities of summer camp without leaving home. Swimming, archery, handcraft, hiking, mountain trips, and a trip to Disneyland are all in store for those signing up for Day Camp.
